Purpose of the capital raising

The Company intends to use the funds raised under this Offer for:

1. Working capital, including funding of new contracts; and
2. Expenses of the Offer

Company update

The Executive Management team commenced the reorganisation of the business in September 2010. To date the review of the people and process phase has been completed. This work will result in better inventory management, disciplined tender/proposal pricing and planning which should result in improved contract execution and performance.

Further, the efficiency improvement program is well underway and to date significant work has been completed to improve the delivery of current and future contracts and, as such, reduce costs. These initiatives are anticipated to, result in cost reductions of $3.5 million per annum. The full benefit of these and further cost reductions to be quantified and implemented are expected to flow from the second half of the 2010/11 year.

As highlighted in the AGM presentation in November 2010, a rationalisation program of the assets of EDMS is now underway and is expected to be completed by the third quarter of the 2010/11 financial year. It is anticipated that this program will reduce ongoing financing commitments in the order of $1.2 million per annum.

A disciplined approach to disposal is being applied that ensures the Company retains its best revenue generating assets while disposing of those assets that do not contribute to profitable operations.

The Company has now exited a number of underperforming contracts and has secured several new contracts that provide an attractive base for building strong and profitable growth, including;

1. Xstrata at Mt Isa Mines;
2. Newcrest subsidiary Cadia Valley Operations; and
3. Cobar Management Pty Ltd.

These contracts have a combined value of over $10 million and range in duration from three months to two years. They involve surface and underground drill rigs undertaking large diameter, down the hole hammer and diamond drilling programs. The first two contracts listed above have commenced with the third contract listed above commencing in January 2011.

For personal use only

The Company is also in the process of increasing the number of rigs with an existing blue chip coal mining client in NSW which will add an additional $7 million in revenue over two years commencing in January 2011.

A two year labour hire contract generating in excess of $5 million in revenue is at the signing stage and it is anticipated that this will be completed before the end of this calendar year.

Several smaller surface hard rock exploration programs are in the latter stages of negotiation with revenues in the range of $250,000 to $400,000 and a duration of one to two months.

Actions required to take up your Entitlement

The Offer closes at 5.00 pm AEDT on 24 January 2011. If you decide to take this opportunity to increase your investment in EDMS please ensure that before this time, your completed Entitlement and Acceptance Form and your Application Monies are received by our registry, Computershare Investor Services, or you have paid your Application Monies via BPAY® pursuant to the instructions set out in the enclosed Entitlement and Acceptance Form.

4. RISK FACTORS

Applicants should consider the risk factors described below, together with information contained elsewhere in this Prospectus, before deciding whether to apply for Shares. Applicants should consider that an investment in the Company is speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to apply for Shares.

The following is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which the Company is exposed.

4.1 Industry Downturn

The Company's financial performance is sensitive to the level of demand within the mining industry. The level of activity in the industry can be cyclical and sensitive to a number of factors beyond the control of the Company. In addition, the Company may not be able to predict the timing, extent or duration of the activity cycles in the industry.

4.2 Entry of New Competitors

The entry of additional competitors in the mineral drilling services sector could result in reduced operating margins and loss of market share for the Company. Such occurrences could adversely affect the Company's operating and financial performance. The mineral drilling services sector is highly capital intensive and acts as a barrier to new competitors. Despite the Company's demonstrated ability to compete effectively in the markets in which it operates, the competitive nature of the sector means that there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to compete successfully against current or future competition.

4.3 Contractual Arrangements

The Company is party to a number of contracts for the provision of mineral drilling services to parties within the mining industry.

These contracts contain differing provisions whereby the Company has indemnified clients against certain liabilities, losses or claims relating to the provision of mineral drilling services and breaches of contract. The Company seeks to decrease its exposure to liability contractually and maintains adequate levels of public and product liability insurance. However, the Company's insurance and contractual arrangements may not adequately protect it against liability for all losses. The Company may also be unable to maintain insurance at levels of risk coverage or with deductibles that it considers appropriate or guarantee that every contract contains and has properly incorporated adequate limitations on liability. Any loss falling outside the scope of insurance or contractual limits may adversely affect the Company's financial performance.

The Company's contracts contain provisions providing for the early termination of the contracts upon the giving of notice to the Company. In some instances, the Company is not entitled to any termination payments where the contract is terminated early. The early termination of these contracts, for any reason, may mean that the Company will not realise the full value of the contract and this may adversely affect the Company's financial performance.

4.4 Recognition of Revenue

The Company's performance is influenced by its ability to win new contracts for the provision of mineral drilling services and the completion of those contracts in a timely and an efficient manner. Where the completion of contracts is delayed, the recognition of revenue for those contracts may be deferred to later accounting periods.

4.5 Reliance on Key Client Relationships

The Company relies upon relationships with a number of clients within the mining industry in order to maintain and grow its market share and deliver its forecast financial performance. A number of key clients each provide a material proportion of the Company's annual revenue.

The deterioration of one or more key relationships, or the loss of contracts with any one of the Company's key clients who provide a material proportion of annual revenue, could have a materially adverse affect on the Company's market share and financial performance.

4.6 Environmental

The Company's operations are subject to State and Commonwealth environmental legislation. While the Company monitors environmental issues, has appropriate environmental licences for its operations and has environmental management procedures, there is no assurance that the Company's operations will not be affected by an environmental incident or subject to environmental liabilities.

4.7 Occupational Health & Safety

Site safety and occupational health and safety outcomes are a critical element in the reputation of the Company and the ability to secure and maintain contracts in the mineral drilling services industry. While the Company has a strong record in achieving high quality safety performance at its sites, and has implemented a safety management system acceptable to all major clients, a serious site safety incident may adversely affect the Company's ability to secure and maintain contracts and its financial performance.

4.8 Economic

The financial performance and value of the Company may be influenced by various economic factors such as commodity prices, inflation, interest rates, domestic and international economic growth, taxation policies, legislative change, political stability, stock market conditions in Australia and elsewhere, changes in investor sentiment towards particular market sectors, exchange rate fluctuations and acts of terrorism.

4.9 Market

The market price of the Company's securities can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities and in particular, mining and mining services stocks, which may be unrelated to the operating performances of such companies. Applicants should be aware that there are risks associated with any securities investment. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return on an investment in the Company.

4.10 Future Capital Requirements

While the Directors believe that the Company will have sufficient funds to fund its activities in the short term, the Company is operating in a dynamic and complex industry. There can be no assurance that the Company will not seek to exploit business opportunities of a kind which will require it to raise additional funding from equity or debt sources. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to raise such funding on favourable terms or at all.

Any additional equity raising may dilute the interest of Shareholders and any debt financing may involve financial covenants which limit the Company's operations. If the Company is unable to obtain such additional funding, the Company may be required to reduce the scope of any expansion, which could adversely affect its financial performance.

4.11 Reliance on Key Personnel and Employees

The Company's prospects depend in part on the ability of its executive officers, senior management and key consultants to operate effectively. Investors must be willing to rely to a significant extent on management's discretion and judgement, as well as the expertise and competence of outside contractors.

For personal use only

To manage its operations and future growth, the Company needs to retain its existing key personnel and may need to attract and retain additional highly qualified management, corporate and operational personnel. The loss of key personnel, or the failure to recruit high caliber additional personnel, could have a materially adverse effect on the Company.

4.12 Liquidity and Realisation

There can be no guarantee that an active market in the Shares will develop or that the price of the Shares will increase. There may be a relatively limited number of buyers, or a relatively large number of sellers, on ASX at any given time. This may increase the volatility of the market price of the Shares. It may also affect the prevailing market price at which Shareholders are able to sell their Shares. This may result in Shareholders receiving a market price for their Shares that is less than the price paid for their Shares.

4.13 Not exhaustive

The above list of risk factors is not an exhaustive list of the risks relevant to EDMS. These risks (and others not specifically referred to above) may materially affect the financial performance of EDMS and the value of its Shares.
